intro: the info on it, duh

Hi I'm Brightkit. No, I'm not talking to you right now, obviously. I'm mute. I mean, cats can't write, but i can't talk...so I don't know what to call what I'm doing right now..huh, its confusing so lets not worry about that. As I said my name is Brightkit, I'm mute and was born into the clan spiritclan. Haven't heard of us? You might of not. You see, we migrated north due to not being strong enough to withstand leafbare. Most of us died, but with the cats left we built it up again. Now, we're strong and sturdy. When i said we I don't mean I was there when this happened. My mom, Sunstep told me about the clans and told me interesting that happened. She once told me about this evil cat named Tigerstar. The cat that tried killing the leader of Thunderclan,And succeeded. If he had tried that on Crimsonstar I would've been there for my leader.But, mom said that he's long gone. None of us know wether the other clans are still there, but we still live by their code with honor and pride. We live north of the clans, in a small forest. We don't have any special technique like shadowclan's technique to use the dark. we just are extremely quiet in battle and hunting. Huh, I bet I'm the quietest cat. Us spiritclan cats are loyal.My mom has always been loyal. She's a loyal warrior of spiritclan.Speaking of my mother i haven't told you about my family life yet. My mother is Sunstep, my father died before I was born. Killed in a gathering by a ruthless shadowclan cat. I have 3 siblings, Nightkit,Honeykit and Badgerkit. They're nice and helpful, but immature most of the time. Oh no, I hear Honeykit calling me. Must be important, I gotta go. Bye!

"Oh, stop fighting you two! Someone could get hurt!" A worried mew came from the space around the small tan colored kit. She hadn't opened her eyes yet. The scents around her flooded her nostril. The smell of two mother shecats and five kits surrounded her. She was confused who was who, so she decided she'd figure out herself.
The small shekit opened up her big green eyes and looked around. Her eyesight was sill blurry but she could make out the shape of 7 cats. As she thought, 5 kits, 2 mothers.
"Brightkit! Oh my starclan! You've opened your eyes!" The sound of the shecats voice made it obvious that this was her mother. The small kit opened up her mouth to say something but no sound came out. 'what? Where is my voice? I have so much to say!' She thought to herself. The mother looked at her kit in worry," so it is true...she can't speak..." The kits eyes lit up alarmed and she wanted to cry out so badly but as she said, she couldn't speak.
So the kit finally caught up with everything. Her name was Brightkit apparently and she had no voice, she was mute. She watched her siblings as they stared at her as if she was a fox with two heads. 'I bet they think I'm a freak. Oh wait i am' she thought to herself. Then the one with white stripes stepped in front of them, noticing i have a wounded stare. "Look, she's our sister she's just like us , voice or no voice." The kits exchanged glances than nodded knowing it was the truth," Hey Brightkit you could play a game with us if you want." Her eyes lit up. Her family accepted her whether she was different or not. 'Voice or no voice' she repeated the words her brother said in her mind Brightkit nodded happily. The others let out a squeak of glee, but she would have to get used to the fact that she couldn't. It wasn't the worst, her mother was cared about her as equal as the rest of her siblings. She told them about Millie, a thunder clan cat that was way too over protective about her daughter and her problem. Sunstep wasn't like that thankfully.
The others decided on moss ball toss, while she nodded her approval. her siblings ran up to they're mother and pleaded for a moss ball. Sunstep laughed and tossed them a small wad of dry bedding, "have fun and don't wake up the elders!" Then all four of them scampered off, her brother badgerkit had the wad in his maws, "catch, honeykit!" He tossed it towards the cream tortishell shekit, who catched it with ease. "catch Brightkit!" She tossed it towards the small tan colored kit. without thinking she jumped up and grabbed it but fell harshly onto a sleeping elder outside of the elders den. Her siblings back away whispering things like, "uh oh" and "busted".

"what in starclan's name?" The elder lifted up his head, it was nightwish, the old deputy that grew old and retired. Brightkit scattered to get up off of him, he had saw her and narrowed his eyes, "what in starclans name were you doing, mouse brained kit!" Her eyes filled with alarm cause couldn't answer his question. Heads turned to look at them and sunstep padded out of the nursery, "oh no...of course, it just had to be Nightwish." She sighed and ran over, "leave Brightkit alone, she doesn't know any better" he grumbled and the fur on his neck rose, "if she was smart she would answer my question, but you have a mouse for a kit." Startled murmurs came from around. Brightkit felt her heart get heavy with sorrow, than a small tom kit padded forward," it's not her fault, she was just having fun, ever heard of it nightwish?" Brightkit looked up at the kit that was standing up for her.
She'd recognized his face, he was Tigerkit, son of crimsonstar and fawnheart. "Brightkit? Are you ok?" He looked down at her and she nodded up at him. He was so generous and brave to stand up for her against nightwish. She looked around. 'prefect first day....'

Nightwish no longer wanted to talk to Brightkit and her siblings. He was the oldest living cat in the clan. So he had the best stories. Brightkit's litter mates blamed it on her for the reason of nightwish no longer telling them stories.
"good going, sis..." They would comment, no longer wanting to make eye contact with her. She so wished she could say what was on her mind. Tigerkit was the only kit that would talk to her. Though conversations were difficult.
They would sit, he would talk and she would nod or shake her head and draw in the dirt with her claw. They came up with special symbols, like a secret code. It was her voice. That code was her way of talking. "so, when do you think big grumpy nightwish will forgive you and your siblings?" Brightkit would shrug and shake her head, thinking she ruined it for them forever. He laughed, "that sucks" she nodded agreeing with a smile. He had good humor.
It was a little bit harder for her to ask him questions but they worked on it along the way. She sat beside him and drew the symbol for apprentice and drew a question mark beside it. He sat and looked at it. She drew a moon beside it also. "how many moons before i become an apprentice? Three" she nodded and sat there silently, obviously. She had five moons. 'he's going to become an apprentice and forget about me, he's going to have new friends' she thought.
Three moons eventually passed. She had became good friends with tigerkit who was becoming an apprentice that day. The three moons came along with silence from her siblings. Her mother still talked to her sometimes, though it was more lecturing. The other cats would ignore her for being different, though the medicine cat was nice to her. She understood her, her sister had been deaf. Finally the time came for the ceremony. "may all cats old enough to gather own prey meet under tall stone for a meeting" crimsonstar yowled and jumped up on the large rock.
Glee filled tigerkit's eyes. Brightkit noticed how much he had actually grown. He was taller and more built now. Crimsonstar sat on top of the rock, "today a kit turns 6 moons, the age for every kit to become an apprentice." Meows of excitement filled the air around Brightkit. She could only smile at tigerkit to show she was happy. "tigerkit, has now turned 6 moons old. Today he will receive his apprentice name and mentor. Tigerkit please come here." Heads turned towards Tigerkit as he padded up the rock, a happy glow in his eyes. "do you promise to live by the warrior code and listen to your mentor at all times?" " I do." "than by the power of Starclan I give you your apprentice name, tigerpaw." Crimsonstar kneeled his head down and touched his nose to tigerpaw's head and tigerpaw touched his nose to the leaders shoulder. "your mentor will be cinderwing" 'that lucky furball got the deputy.....' Brightkit thought. He trotted down to cinderwing and they touched noses as the clan yowled out his new name.

"that is all, you may get back to what you were doing. Cinderwing set up the border patrol and a hunting patrol" the leader leapt down as cinderwing set up the patrols, "foxsong lead a border patrol down to the old stump and between the twoleg's place. Take featherpaw, hawkflight and goldentail" Tigerpaw sat beside his mentor as Brightkit just stared than headed to the medicine cats den.
Echofrost was dealing with sagepaw who had a thorn in her paw that got infected. Echofrost didn't mind having her in there, she was a help sometimes.
Brightkit sat and watched as Echofrost dealed with the apprentices swollen pad. "greetings Brightkit" Brightkit nodded a hello and watched silently, thinking about tigerpaw. Sagepaw glanced over at Brightkit, they weren't really close friends but they talked sometimes. "you're thinking about him aren't you....?" Brightkit blushed furiously and looked at the ground and clawed at the ground. Sagepaw sighed, she hadn't mooned over any toms. She didn't take interest in them. Brightkit was the only one that knew her secret and supported her as much as possible.
Brightkit nodded slowly. Sagepaw shifted to get comfortable, trying not to disturb her paw. "I'll be right back.... I need help from fawnheart to get more dock, don't move!" Echofrost padded away to fawnheart and they headed out. Brightkit lifted up her head to look at sagepaw, "he won't forget about you, he'll always be there for you" sagepaw sighed. She had been acting weird whenever Brightkit thought about tigerpaw. She didn't understand her problem but tried not to think about it. "he is always going to be your friend, i promise you." Brightkit padded up to her friend and licked her ear showing her gratitude and thanks. Brightkit padded out and tigerpaw wasn't in sight. 'he must be training' she thought. She than padded to her nest to get rest.She curled up I'm her nest that lay in the corner. It took her a few minutes until she fell into a deep sleep. Slowly drifting into a sleep where she wouldn't be woken easily.

Ok, I'm here to ask for advice on my book.... I feel like I'm rushing to write chapters since I'm having so much fun with this... Please tell me whether i should go ahead and write as many chapters as i want as fast as possible.... And if any of you were wondering yes sagepaw is a lesbian and i think you might guess who her little crush is... And she just turned an apprentice so it is not a big she difference between her and her crush.... And you probably guessed who it is, but thank you guys..i need advice!!!! Please and oh! I could use more cats so you can make a character if you wish! I will add in the character and hopefully give this character some attention..that's all the time i have so bye! And i love you all!

not understanding...authors note

Ok I'm not mad, i just don't understand..my first chapter has 155 reads and chapter 2 only has about 17.... Making me think chapter one wasn't good enough to read chapter two.....making me think that its a waste of time to do chapter 3 today.....i.don't.understand.

Brightkit drifted into a dream. the dream surrounded with a bright field and a long shimmering river. She pranced around happily. Surely if this was a dream she could talk. Brightkit opened up her jaw, and closed her eyes, "hello?"
Brightkit's eyes spot open, " i i i..... I can talk!" A shadow appeared behind her. "only in your dreams dear Brightkit" Brightkit nearly jumped out of her fur and quickly turned around. It was a large dark tabby tom with scars that crossed his pelt. He had a long matted pelt and a unusually shaped tail. " h how did you know my name?" He smirked, "i know lots about you Brightkit. My names brokenstar"
The large tom padded past her and sat at the shimmering river. She followed, having no idea what he was talking about. Wasn't he the one that killed his father and took over leadership in shadowclan? Surely they misunderstood, this tom seemed nice.
She sat beside him, looking up at him. He didn't glance at her and flicked his crooked tail and stared out at the river. " i was like you once" "you were mute?" He laughed gently, "no young kit, i was innocent and misunderstood" there was a little bit of sorrow in his eyes. " All i ever wanted was to be loved by my mother, but she gave me up..... All I wanted was to be accepted by her." Brightkit suddenly felt bad for him. Everything her clan had said had been wrong. All he wanted was love.
She looked up at him, "I'm sorry..... But how does this affect me?" He glanced down at her. "don't you see? The same might happen to you young kit!" Brightkit gasped slowly, "no! My mom and siblings love....." Her words trailed off. Her family didn't seem to love her at the moment. He nodded, "i make a point, i don't want the same to happen to a innocent kit that didn't do anything wrong." He was different. She understood him.
"i want to make you a offer" the dark tom said. She twitched her small tail, " what is your offer, Brokenstar...?" He got up and circles Brightkit and examined her. He than glanced at get eyes, " they see you weak.... They think your silence is a disadvantage. I've seen your leader talk about not knowing whether to make you an apprentice or not. I can change they're minds." He smirked and Brightkit twitched her ears, " in 2 moons you'll be an apprentice, when that time comes i can teach you how to prove them wrong." "and what is the catch." He stayed silent for a minute, " you must show loyalty to me, listen to me no matter what." She blinked before nodding. " i accept you're offer."

Brokenstar twitched his unusual tail and stood up. "good, i will make you wanted." Brightkit smiled, "thank you." He smiled back, than touched his nose to hers. Brightkit closed her eyes and awoke to the soft moss bedding.
A bright purple flower laid in front of her paws . 'tigerpaw?' She sniffed it but his scent didn't come from it. She felt disappointed but stood up and stretched. She grabbed the flower in her jaw and skipped out of the den. Sagepaw watched as she passed by, and sighed. Brightkit searched for her mother, to 'ask' if it came from her. Sunstep wasn't in sight so she laid it down. She Sat by it and began to think who it could've came from.
Sagepaw skipped over to her two mice in her jaws, "hungry?" Brightkit looked up with a smile and nodded. Sagepaw Sat beside her and dropped the mice. " whose the flower from?" Sagepaw pointed at the flower with her tail. The purple petals matched sagepaw's lavender eyes. Brightkit shrugged and took a bite of the prey. 'surely it wasn't her' Brightkit shook the thought out if her head. 'she's not crushing on you'
They ate they're mice, and sagepaw grabbed the small flower. "here, i think it would look better here....." She placed the flower in the fur beside Brightkit's ear. "adorable" sagepaw giggled and Brightkit smiled. 'she's more like a sister' Brightkit stood up and licked sagepaw's ear in a thank you and began to walk off.
'now onto brokenstar business.....' Brightkit thought. He was gonna help her. What did he mean, special place? How did he know so much about her? Wasn't he from one of the old four clans? Brightkit continued to wonder as she pranced around camp, the purple flower in her fur.

Later on tigerpaw came back from training. He had excelled quickly. He had been training for two Moons and tonight was the night of the gathering. They obviously didn't do a gathering with other clans. They would just talk and announce news to they're ancestors.
the gathering was held too late for any kits to attend. That part saddened Brightkit. She wanted to enjoy watching her leader announce news to starclan. Be guarded by the glittering stars of her ancestors. Brokenstar was one of them. He would help her become wanted.
Tigerpaw padded over as Brightkit was eating a mouse," hey." Brightkit looked up with a smile and nodded a greeting. "Can i tell you something?" The question took Brightkit by surprise but she nodded. He began to studer as he said, " i, i think i like featherpaw..."
Brightkit's heart sank. 'featherpaw?' Her eyes got teary but she hid it and nodded. She drew a heart in the dirt with a question mark. He sighed, "yes might even love her...." Her heart instantly shattered and she stood up. "where you going, Brightkit?" She didn't answer as she ran out of camp, not looking back.
A yowl came from tigerpaw, "Brightkit!" She could'nt hear him. Tears blazed from her eyes. Nobody loved her...not even her family. 'brokenstar was right' The small cream colored shekit laid down under a rock, covering her face. Streams of tears lead down. 'this isn't true love, your only a kit Brightkit' Brightkit told herself as she cried for what seemed to be forever.
"I find her scent!" A yowl came from around Brightkit. The voice was about twenty fox tails away. Brightkit was tired out as she just laid under the sledge rock. She smelled scents of her clan mates. Foxsong, cinderwing and sagepaw jumped out through the bush behind Brightkit somewhere t though there was more cats around. Sagepaw sniffed the air than hurried over to Brightkit. "Oh starclan..... What have you gotten yourself into...." Sagepaw whispered than twitched her tail and called for her clanmates. They rushed over and picked up Brightkit and sagepaw lagged behind.

Brightkit awoke later on in the med den. She looked around. She wasn't hurt, she didn't get hurt.....well physically.... Brightkit flattened her ears and covered her face with her paws. 'Tigerpaw didn't love you, he loves Featherpaw, end of story.' Brightkit didn't want to get up. Sagepaw padded in, " you seemed to leave in a hurry." Brightkit ignored her and turned away. Sagepaw flattened her ears with a sigh and padded over and laid down gently next to Brightkit. Brightkit glanced up at her, than put her head on her paws. Sagepaw leaned over and licked Brightkit's cheek gently until the apprentice fell asleep beside Brightkit. She blushed dark but they both slept beside each other.

Brightkit awoke into the sparkling field of grass and the shimmering river. She looked around, "brokenstar? I know your here..." His scent covered the land. His shadow slowly crept up behind her. " welcome back, enjoying your sleep with your little partner?" "she's just a friend....she's like a sister, more than a sister honeykit ever was.." Brokenstar chuckles lightly and sat down, "honestly, by the time your a apprentice you won't have time for a love life, so stop thinking about tigerpaw if you want to prove yourself worthy." She looked up at him, "look, we had a deal you never said anything about a mate." "your just a kit, Brightkit you've got long ways." Brightkit got impatient and tried to wake herself up.

Brightkit began to wake up to the soft moss of the med den. Sagepaw slept beside her. She tried not to wake her up as she padded out. 'so tigerpaw doesn't love you..so what? Forget about him, he wasn't worth it anyways. ' Brightkit looked around as crimsomstar yowled and jumped up on the tall rock, "all cats old enough to gather own prey, gather under tall rock for news!" Brightkit padded over to the back of the group, cats staring at her. "Due to the mishap earlier, we will not be able to have the gathering, we must wait until the next full moon." Meows of protest filled the air. "Your going to engage Starclan!" "this has never been done before!" Crimsonstar hissed and the voices died down, "that is final! If you can't deal with it, leave for all i care!"

Crimsonstar leapt down and padded through the crowd to his den. Cats avoiding eye contact with the large ginger tom. He wasn't usually violent. Something was up. When he passed by Brightkit he stared in her eyes for a moment before continuing on. Her fur bristled lightly but a voice behind her made her jump, "its time to sleep, Brightkit." Brightkit nodded but went in to check on sagepaw.

Sound asleep. She didn't consent her mother before Brightkit went over and cuddled up beside her and drifted asleep.

Brightkit didn't have the brokenstar dream that night. She just slept right there beside sagepaw. She tried not to make it awkward. She wanted to sleep there because she didn't want to be with her siblings. Sagepaw would replace her siblings.
Brightkit felt protected beside sagepaw. 'wait what am i doing!? It sounds like i want to be her mate' Brightkit woke with a start when she thought that. She did love her, but like a sister. Brightkit looked down at sagepaw. She licked her ear and trotted out of medicine cat's den.
Brightkit didn't bother to look for tigerpaw. He broke her heart, and he was probably going to be spending time with featherpaw anyways. That annoying silver nightmare with blue eyes... Brightkit than seemed to pop back into reality, 'you're.a.kit' than she just remembered. Today was the day she and her siblings were becoming apprentices.
Three apprentice den would be crowded but she could just cuddle up beside sagepaw. Though she hated being near her siblings. They actually began to bully her. Weren't siblings supposed to be there for each other? "freak..." "dog got your tongue?" She hated them so much.
Brightkit yawned as she headed towards the fresh kill pile. The purple flower still stayed in her fur as she got a plump vole. She began to eat and glance around the camp. A group of cats gathered and headed out of camp. She continued eating and looked up. Outside of the leaders den Crimsonstar was watching her than when he saw she noticed he looked away.
Her fur bristled. 'well that was creepy.' Shivers ran down her spine. He'd been keeping an eye on her lately like she was going to kill some cat. Obviously Brightkit wasn't like that. He padded of and Brightkit shuddered. "Hey!" The voice behind her made her jump when it was only sagepaw Brightkit gave her a playful shove."have a good sleep, sleeping beauty?" Sagepaw asked as she say beside Brightkit and lapped at a paw and drew it over her ear. Brightkit blushed slightly and nodded. The apprentice giggled. "todays the big day!", she said excitedly. Brightkit smiled wide and looked around for tigerpaw, "he doesn't love you, your just a kit anyways."

Brightkit hated the fact how that was true but that was about to change. "All cats old enough to gather prey, gather under the tall stones for a clan meeting!" Crimsonstar yowled as he jumped up on the larger ledge. Brightkit's eyes filled in excitement. The leader sat down, "today is the day four kits become apprentices, i am dearly sorry that it is going you be crowded." Brightkit glanced at her siblings who were shunning her. "honeykit, badgerkit, nightkit and" he paused before saying her name, "Brightkit." Brightkit shuffled her paws listening closely. "lets start, shall we?"
"Badgerkit please come up here and earn your apprentice name. Badgerkit let out an excited squeak and clumsily ran up. "do you promise to uphold the warrior code and listen you your mentor at all times?" "I do!" Badgerkit squeaked. Crimsonstar chuckled, "than by the power of star clan i name you badgerpaw!" The clan called out his name as the leader touched his nose to badgerpaw head and he licked his shoulder. "your mentor will be lilacheart." Badgerpaw skipped down to the white furred shecat and they touched noses.
"honeykit, your mother had told me how much you've wanted to be a medicine cat and I've seen your interest in the herbs." Brightkit than just realized how true that was. When she would leave her sister would sometimes go and talk with Echofrost. "I've talked to Echofrost personally and she said she'd love to mentor you, so come up and get your apprentice name." Honeykit ran up a bright glow in her eyes. Once she was up on the rock the leader smiled, "do you promise to uphold the medicine cat code and listen to your mentor at all times.""i do" she said as calmly as she could. "than i name you honeypaw, go to echofrost." They did the usual while the clan cheered her name.
Brightkit glanced over at her brother nightkit. He was always the calm mature cat , but never talked to Brightkit. So there was no sibling bond between her or any of her littermates. She saw how much her brother had grown but than began to think about brokenstar. Since she was becoming an apprentice that meant that the deal would officially start. Most likely that night.
"Brightkit? Hello? Are you deaf as well as mute?" Her mother meowed and Brightkit realized she zoned out through nightpaw's ceremony and Now it was her turn. She took a deep breath. She stood up and padded up the rocks and tripped a few times before getting to the top. Crimsonstar didn't have the same warm glow in his eyes as he did with her siblings. Brightkit gulped and her fur bristled as she waited for him to speak.

"do you promise to uphold the warrior code and listen to you're mentor at all times." Brightkit gave a small nod. Crimsonstar didn't seem very enthusiastic with her. "than by the power of star clan i name you, Brightpaw" she smiled and licked his shoulder and she swore she could feel him tense as he put his nose to her head. The clan called out her name and she looked down at the crowd. She smiled than saw tigerpaw. With featherpaw. Her smile grew to a frown and she turned back to the leader. "your mentor will be darkcloud." Brightpaw ran down and touched her nose to the tom. "that is all for tonight, have a good rest." Crimsonstar leapt down and Brightpaw beamed happily as she ran up to sagepaw and muzzled her. "congrats, BrightPAW." Brightpaw purred and padded off to the apprentice den.
She found a good nest in the corner and curled up. Sagepaw followed close behind and curled up beside her,resting her head on Brightpaw. They purred and Brightpaw licked sagepaw's cheek before drifting into sleep. She woke up in the sparking field once more. "congrats now we can finally start with the deal." The voice of brokenstar appeared behind her and she smiled softly. "Take me to the special place brokenstar, I'm ready." "i know you are" he let out a soft purr and began to walk away and Brightpaw followed.

author note: slacking

I'm so sorry guys.. I've been slacking off from doing chapter six cause I'm going through a lot at the moment.. I'll have chapter six up soon.. Please don't hate me

chapter 6

Brightpaw followed brokenstar through the dark, miserable looking woods. Everything was dark, and the air smelled of murder. Brightpaw went over to look at a river. It was dark but she saw some crimson and didn't want to stay long to figure out what it was.

Brightpaw leapt up beside brokenstar, "this is the special place?" She said. He just gave a nod and continued walking. She let her shoulders sag as they walked. He saw and hissed at her. "we're almost there! Do you wanna look disrespectful and pitiful!?" She straightened up and they walked through a windy path until the two cats came upon a group of large cats.

(small authors side note: other than brokenstar these cats are original characters)

Brightpaw glanced around. The cats were well built and strong. She saw multiple scars on some pelts. Her and brokenstar padded towards them. They split apart so that brokenstar could be in front of them. Brightpaw sat down beside brokenstar as they commotion stopped.

"welcome, to the place of no stars!" He yowled and the cats cheered. "as you know, i am not part of you're clan, I'm from the old clans." Brightpaw glanced around, confused slightly. "I have crossed the dark Forest border in our clans to YOUR dark Forest! I'm the only one that came, cause the rest were fox hearted cowards!" Cats agreed all around. These cats were insane! 'I'm not insane! what am i doing here?!' Than, Brokenstar let out a welcoming yowl, "we also have a new recruit today! Brightpaw!" He purred and the cats murmmered greetings. Brightpaw grew hot under her pelt and smiled, though the next thing made her even more prideful. "The warriors of Spiritclan don't see her potential! But i see, Tons of courage and warrior in this young apprentice!" The words warmed up Brightpaw's cheeks as Brokenstar praised her. "She will now train to become part of our family, and learn our ways to prove those cats wrong!" The cats yowled out her name. Brokenstar waited for them to calm down, "I'm here to train in case your dark forest needs help defending itself against starclan, if your starclan wishes to attack for no reason." Brightpaw nodded than looked out at the cats. Brokenstar looked down at the apprentice. "You should be getting back, your going to need rest young one." Brightpaw gave a quick nod as brokenstar leaned down and they touched noses. With a flash of light Brightpaw was back in the apprentices nest right next to her best friend. Brightpaw was woken by a paw nudging her in the chest. "come on, wake up, dont act like a fat, lazy kittypet." Brightpaw lifted her head up quickly to see her mentor, Darkcloud. He flashed an apologetic smile as he saw the small bit of rage in her eyes. Brightpaw yawned and stretch as she got up from her nest. Darkcloud watched for a moment before meowing, "I'll be waiting outside, get yourself something to eat and ready to go for your first day." Brightpaw gave a nod as he trotted out and she yawned. Sagepaw woke up a few moments later and watched as brightpaw stretched. "Morning, gorgeous." Brightpaw blushed deep as she turned towards her friend and gave a large smile. "First day of training, lets get something to eat." Brightpaw nodded agreeing with the she-cat and they padded out. "Have a good rest?" Sagepaw purred as she padded alongside the smaller apprentice. Brightpaw gave a enthusiastic nod. "good." Sagepaw smiled and ran to the Prey pile, brightpaw running after her. Sagepaw got there first and tossed a finch in the air and brightpaw caught it with a swift jump. "You haven't even started training yet and your still amazing at this!" Brightpaw blushed and smile. She set the finch down at sat beside sagepaw as the other apprentice grabbed a vole. They ate glancing around the camp, neither saying a word. Brightpaw glanced around and saw Tigerpaw chatting with Featherpaw.

Featherpaw was laughing and blushing. Tigerpaw had a dashing grin laid upon his face. Brightpaw growled, furiously, her fur bristling. She unsheathed her claws and dug them into the ground. "stop it! Your such a charmer, tigerpaw!" Brightpaw kept herself from launching at the shecat. Sagepaw gave a concerned face and nudged her friend. "You ok, Brightpaw?" Brightpaw snapped out from her daze and sheathed her claws with a nod. Sagepaw sighed and nuzzled her shoulder. "Its gonna be alright.. He's not good enough for such a wonderful shecat like you." Brightpaw blushed and looked down at her unusual friend. Sagepaw lightly licked her cheek with a purr. Brightpaw blushed even darker as she nuzzled her friend back, a purr rumbling in her throat. They sat there for several minutes until a loud disrupting cough ended the moment. "I thought we were supposed to be exploring the territory, not enjoying yourselves with your new den buddy."

The two shecats turned back to see Hawkflight and Darkcloud chuckling. Brightpaw blushed with a slight growl. Sagepaw sighed and the two quickly ate the prey. The mentors watched silently whispering stuff to each other, laughing a bit in between. The two shecats finished and Brightpaw nodded at sagepaw, as the shecat mowed, "we're ready." Hawkflight gave a warm smile and headed towards the exit. "well, come on, lazy bones." Darkcloud teased lightly and flicked his tail at sagepaw's ears as they stood and followed the Toms. The Toms led the two apprentices through the woods, motioning towards border markings. "We need to keep our borders safe from rouges, foxes, badgers, and dogs." Hawkflight instructed, as darlcloud scowled. "No, we're just gonna invite them into our territory for a mouse or two." His sarcastic tone bothered Brightpaw and she flattened her ears as she followed. "Be serious, Darkcloud. Keep the attitude for the other warriors." Darkcloud huffed as they continued to walk. Brightpaw got bored quickly and let her shoulders sag. Sagepaw noticed and nudged her with a encaustic smile. "bored?" She nodded than Sagepaw gave a silent giggle, "watch this." "Hawkfligt? Since we showed most of the territory already.. Don't you think its best for a hunting break?" Hawkflight frowned but then nodded, "yes, of course. Can you show Brightpaw a correct hunting crouch?" She nodded and got into position. Darkcloud sighed and tilted his head as he looked at the other tom. "You asked her too? That shoulda' been an order, if ya ask me!" "well, nobody asked you, so stop yapping." Sagepaw giggled and Brightpaw smiled as she watched the other shecat. "they're always like this." Brightpaw purred and the two Toms blushed as Sagepaw teased, "they fight like elder mates." The two shecats snickered as they're mentors growled in annoyance. "OK, we're going back to camp.. Your obviously not ready today. Maybe crimsonstar can make you pick off the elders ticks and fleas." Sagepaw have a complained moan and Brightpaw flattened her ears and they headed back to camp. "sorry, Brightpaw, i ruined your first day." Sagepaw let her tail slip between her legs as they padded to camp. Brightpaw gave her a forgiving smile and Sagepaw blushed and looked away. She had been acting a little odd around her lately but Brightpaw continued her way to camp, beside the shecat. Brightpaw looked at the sun as it lowered and she closed her eyes and took in a deep sigh, while stopping for a second. Sagepaw looked back at her, "you coming?" Brightpaw nodded, but took another moment to inhale and exhale. She glared up at the moon as she saw the faint image of a familiar tom. It quickly went away as it was never there and Brightpaw caught back up with her friend.they intertwined tails, continuing to camp.

When the two shecats padded into camp they undid they're tails and lowered they're heads. Heads raised at the sight of them and confused murmurs floated around. Sagepaw let her tail fall between her legs in shame. Brightpaw nudged her and led her to crimsonstar. "What are you two doing back so early? I thought Hawkflight and Darkcloud were training you two?" Sagepaw sighed, realizing she had to answer. "I was disrespecting them, I'm sorry Crimsonstar. Don't punish Brightpaw, she didn't do anything." Brightpaw blushed as her best friend took the blame for her but the leader nodded. "Sagepaw, you will now hunt for the apprentices as well as the rest of the clan. Only for a moon, but, i think you'll do fine. You're a fantastic hunter." She nodded. "As for you Brightpaw. Stay in camp, its too late for you to train now." She nodded disappointed. Sagepaw nudged her friend and they padded away. Crimsonstars eyes followed Brightpaw before he padded away to the medicine cats den.
He had been acting really strange around her lately. Brightpaw frowned as she sat at the fresh kill pile. She took a vole, glancing around. She began to eat as Sagepaw went out to hunt for her punishment. (crimsonstar time) Crimsonstar stuck his head into the medicine cats den. "Echofrost, where's Honeypaw?" Echofrost's voice sounded from the back of the cave-like den, "Gathering moss for the den, why?" Crimsonstar padded in as the white medicine cat padded out. "Cause we need to talk." She twitched her ears. "About... Brightpaw..?" He nodded and the two cats sat.
"Has anything else been reveled about the prophecy?" Crimsonstar asked. The medicine cat shakes her head, "sadly not, Crimsonstar." He shamed his paw on the ground, "foxdung! We have to figure this out. What was it again?" Echofrost stated the words, her voice smooth like silk. "The one whose voice is shortened shall step forward to raise her voice and defeat all, the evil and the good. even the one she loves most."
Crimsonstar sighed. "Its so simple.... Yet so complicated..." Echofrost nodded, yet she was confused how it could be both. She never disobeyed him. They were as close as littler-mates. Crimsonstar saved her life. She, owed him, so, she knew not to disagree unless needed to. Crimsonstar huffed as he stood up, "let me know if you have any dreams or signs." She nodded, "keep an eye on her!." and he went out and she went back to work.

(back to Brightpaw)
Brightpaw finished her meal and went to the nursery, just to take a look at the new queen. Poppyfur was expecting kits any day now. Brightpaw had saw it coming. She saw how close Poppyfur and Cinderwing were. Poppyfur greeted Brightpaw with a soft meow, "Greetings, Brightpaw." Brightpaw nodded a salutation as she sat beside the Queen. Her stomach seemed to be getting larger by the day. "I don't mean to be a pain bu i was wondering if you could get me new moss and fresh kill.." Brightpaw smiled and licked the queen's ear before padding out.
"you're too soft, Brightpaw." A familiar voice in her head stopped her in her path. 'Brokenstar...', she thought to herself. A chuckle sounded from her mind as the dark tom padded out from behind some trees. Black blood followed behind his paws as he stepped up to the shecat. "only you could guess.. Your being too soft." 'I'm not being soft. I'm getting an apprentice task done.' She thought as the tom heard her thoughts. "tsk, tsk,tsk. You let the stupid shecat mess up your first training session. So tonight you're gonna work extra hard." He faded and Brightpaw sighed as she ran to collect moss.
She ran back to camp as moss hung in her jaws. Brokenstar was starting to be a bit commanding but, Brightpaw knew she needed his help. Her siblings haven't talked to her in moons. They probably thought she was useless. 'well, I'll show them.. Once I'm training with brokenstar, they'll see how great i can be.' She stormed to camp, the moss dangling from her mouth.
'my mother too' she thought. 'she rejects me.. Ignores me.. As if I'm.. A mistake.' Tears began to flow from get eyes and she slowed down as she walked into camp. Sagepaw had a rabbit in her jaws as she looked over to Brightpaw. Her heart instantly shattered at the sight of her best friend in tears and she dropped the prey, running over. "What's wrong, Brightpaw?" Her friend had a worried voice. Brightpaw wished she could tell her friend everything but couldn't. She just laid her head on her friends shoulder and sobbed.
"Brightpaw.. I have something to tell you."
Brightpaw pulled back. (WARNING: lesbian content, sorry people that hate our kind) "remember how i told you about me being.. Different then the rest of the shecats?" Brightpaw nodded and Sagepaw blushed dark. "well.. I'm in love with a shecat.." Sagepaw mumbled a few last words before doing something Brightpaw wouldn't ever guess. "If loving you is wrong, then i don't wanna be right." Than Sagepaw kissed Brightpaw with all the love she had for her. (yes i know. Cats can't kiss. But get over it)

authors notes: omg & testing

..... Omg.... 967 reads on Brightkit's wish...! I'm working on chapter 7 so it will take time! But I'm working on it! Gets get over a thousand reads people! And testing is next week, so slow updates! Sorry! Bye and thanks! Love you all! <3

I'm sorry..

I'm afraid I no longer have the motivation or ideas for this book any longer.

I wanna try making another and hope for the best!

So....

Sorry...

Maybe i'll make another mute kit in the other one!

Just to please you all

It will be a while for me to come up with the idea...

But, i'm on deviantart more cause drawing is more my thing

please check it out
